

Connecting Your Chromecast to Your TV

Unwrap your Chromecast box. You should find a USB cord and a charging cord along with the thumb-drive size device.

Identify the HDMI port in the back or side of your HD TV. You should also find whether or not your TV has a USB port for charging the device. If not, it will need an outlet or power strip nearby.

Insert the USB port into the back of the Chromecast. If you are using the USB port to charge the device, connect the USB cable to the device. If not, plug the device charger into it instead.

Insert the other end of the Chromecast into the HDMI port. The Chromecast connects directly to an HDMI port on your TV and stays hidden behind your TV or off to the side.

Plug the device in. After it is connected, plug the AC adapter into an electrical outlet to power the device on.

Turn on your TV. Press the “input” button. Find the HDMI input that corresponds to your device. This may be a numbered HDMI port, such as HDMI, HDMI2 or HDMI3.

Finish the setup on your laptop or smartphone. Go to google.com/chromecast/setup to create your account. Note your Chromecast setup name.
